

AN APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE

THE GOOD GOVERNMENT CLUB HAS ISSUED AN ADDRESS.

Says Before Their Ticket Was Nominated It Was Learned That the Republicans and State Democracy Would Not Unite Against Tammany Except on the Basis of Distribution of Spoils.

New York, Oct. 13.—An address was read to-night from the headquarters of the Good Government club, giving reasons for putting a good government ticket in the field. The address among other things says:

Before the good government ticket is nominated our representatives are nominated from leading citizens in the two political parties that the republican party and the state democracy would unite against Tammany except upon the basis of a distribution of the spoils of their workers. Unwilling to stray the principles which triumphed in 1894 and with no prospect of any independent action from any other source but the good government convention its ticket in the field. So long as the honorable and wealthy men of the city are willing to lend the weight of their names and the power of their resources to such traffic in an attempt to purchase better government from the politicians we shall have corrupt government, by whatever party name it may be called. Whenever this class of men shall rely upon the people rather than upon their own money and influence and shall have the courage to appeal directly to the voters then the verities of dishonest politicians will be assured. As it is these worthy citizens have strengthened the forces they were marshalled to oppose.

We appeal to the people not only to elect honest candidates upon honest principles, but also to adopt at the polls the outspoken platform of the good government party, which declares for local option and self government. We believe that this question should be determined by the people of this city, and that it should not be decided by the political parties as a means of election and for the sake of political advantage. Every political machine, be it republican or democratic, is a standing menace to good government.

The cause of permanent good government cannot be furthered through officials named by such machines in the interests of the national parties, or to get offices for local workers.

THEY MUST NOT FIGHT.

Danny Needham Placed Under Arrest and Had to Give Bonds.

St. Paul, Oct. 13.—Danny Needham, who was to have engaged in a prize fight to-day with Dick Moore, was arrested last night and compelled to give $1,000 bonds that he would not fight.

The warrant also contained the name of Dick Moore, but the officers were unable to find him. There was a bare possibility of the fight being arranged by other means than by the use of a boat, so the last preventive was resorted to by prevailing upon Attorney General Childs to procure a writ of injunction against the principals in the fight, their principals and managers, and all the railroad companies whose roads led out of the city, restraining them from in any manner aiding in bringing off the fight. When this had been done the anti-fight faction retired from the scene and left the officers of the law to carry out the various orders and mandates.

Behind all this was the governor's proclamation, issued a few days ago, to the effect that the prize fight must not occur.

Shot by Accident.

Chicopee, Mass., Oct. 12.—Joseph H. Lamoureux, a policeman here, was shot in the thigh here to-day by a bullet from a revolver which accidentally fell from the hands of Officer Tobin, a member of the force. The ball could not be found, and the injury may prove serious.

Body of Unknown Man.

Springfield, Oct. 13.—The body of an unknown man was found in the Connecticut river near here to-day. It appeared to have been in the water several days, as it was somewhat decomposed. There was no clue to its identity. The body was that of a man of 180 pounds, 5 feet 10 inches in height.

Corbett Trained on Sunday.

San Antonio, Oct. 13.—Corbett spent all of to-day training. Several hundred people visited his quarters to see him, but only a few friends were admitted to witness the exercises. He was in jovial spirits to-day. He received a telegram to-day from Manager Brady stating that there was a fair chance of the fight being pulled off in Hot Springs.

Did Not Venture Out.

Providence, Oct. 13.—The steamer Connecticut of the Providence line did not venture outside Saturday night on her trip to New York. At 5:30 o'clock this morning she was reported by the steamer Equinox to be anchored off Wickford. Nothing further has been heard from her here, and it is presumed that she proceeded on her trip some time after daylight.

High School Blown Down.

Providence, Oct. 12.—The new $75,000 brick high school building in process of construction in Pawtucket was blown down to-night, being weakened by the severe rain and the wind which had increased to half a gale.

NEW LEE RIFLE FOR THE NAVY.

Requirements Made by the Government of the Manufacturer of the New and Improved Weapon Which is to be Made in New Haven at Winchester's.

Washington, Oct. 12.—The naval ordnance bureau has arranged for the manufacture of 100,000 rifles invented by James P. Lee of Hartford, Conn. This gun is supposed to be the best of the small-calibre arms yet invented. The calibre of the gun will be .236.

The material of which the barrels are made will be forged, or rolled, steel, all tempered, and then annealed and showing on two-inch specimens of standard form, an elastic limit of at least 80,000 pounds per square inch, and an elongation of at least 20 per cent. This material will be of uniform quality, free from slag, seams, hard spots, and all other defects, and will be inspected during manufacture, and tested for acceptance by the government's inspectors. The above requirements can be met by an open-hearth steel containing about 4½ per cent. of nickel, and such steel will be preferred, but any steel meeting the requirements may be used. The barrel forgings will have no further heat treatment after acceptance.

The material for the bolts and receivers will be of the best quality, and samples of it, selected by the government's inspectors, will be tested physically, and must show on two-inch specimens of standard form an elastic limit of at least 40,000 pounds per square inch, and an elongation of at least 20 per cent. when annealed.

The rifling will consist of six equal grooves, having a uniform twist of one turn in 7½ inches. The depth of grooves will be .004, and their form that of the Metford rifling. The stocks will be of the best quality of walnut and finished in proper manner. The butt stock will be of shotgun pattern, with half-pistol grip, and the fore stock and barrel cover will be excavated in wake of the barrel, so as to be in contact with it only on annular ribs covered with asbestos.

The butt plate will be of aluminum, checked or roughened, and with a sliding cover over a pocket in the butt. A steel butt plate may be used if sufficiently light and strong. The hands will be of steel, as light as is consistent with proper strength, and fastened with screw pins. They will be fitted with a lug suitable for holding the bayonet. If a suitable light aluminum bronze alloy is found, it may be used, both for butt plate and bands.

The pattern of rear sight not having been decided upon, the cost of its manufacture will be the subject of future agreement, but the making of the front sights and the attaching and adjusting of both sights must be done by the contractor, and at his expense.

The barrels will be properly browned, and the bolts and receivers either browned or case-hardened as hereafter determined upon as best. All parts requiring durability are to be properly hardened.

One rifle from each lot will be fired not above 100 rounds, with standard ammunition furnished by the department, and defects developed in any part by this firing must be remedied by the contractor. The government will hold the contractor harmless against any suits on accounts of any alleged infringements of patents in the prosecution of the manufacture of the rifles required.

He Wants Cuba Annexed.

Indianapolis, Oct. 12.—Governor Matthews will speak at Atlanta on "Cuban Independence Day" and it is understood he will advocate the recognition of this government of Cuba as a belligerent power. His speech may go to the point of advocating the recognition of Cuba's independence. The governor's friends say that he believes the recognition of Cuba independence would be followed by the immediate annexation of Cuba to the United States.

ANXIETY PREVAILS.

It is Feared the Mormon Church Will Return to Old Forms.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 13.—All the party leaders here were talking to-day about the remarks made by President Joseph F. Smith of the Mormon church at the recent priesthood meeting, to the effect that numerous men high in the councils of the church and particularly Messrs. Thatcher and Roberts, candidates on the democratic ticket, had accepted nominations for political offices without consulting with the president of the church, which was contrary to the rules.

George C. Cannon endorsed Mr. Smith's remarks. The words of the church authorities are taken as a command that those who have gone into politics without the advice and consent of the church must retire from that field. This declaration is viewed with great alarm by Gentiles and the progressive young Mormons, who fear a return to the old conditions which prevailed when the Mormon church authorities ruled with a rod of iron. Strong and bitter anti-statehood talk is now being indulged in by those who hitherto have favored statehood the most strongly. Judge Powers, chairman of the democratic committee, has called a meeting for Monday with the avowed purpose of dissolving the democratic party and forming an anti-statehood party.

Powers is strongly supported by the Gentile republicans and the progressive element of the Mormons irrespective of party. It is believed a fight is on with the church and if the latter does not recede absolutely from the position the anti-statehood movement will be at once inaugurated.

In a speech last night J. L. Rawlins, nominee for the senate and delegate in congress, who secured the passage of the statehood bill, criticised the action of the church authorities and expressed the belief that the people would not countenance such interference.

JUMPED FROM A WINDOW

A BAKER'S WIFE LEAP FROM A WINDOW.

Leaps From a Third Story Window to the Ground—Had Been Locked in by His Roommate—Nearly Fatal Result of a Holiday's Enjoyment.

Peter Fuchs, a baker employed by Gaister at the corner of Dixwell avenue and Foote street, jumped from a third-story window last night and narrowly escaped death. He is twenty-one years of age and rooms with a fellow workman at the corner of Webster and Ashmun streets.

Fuchs had a day off Saturday and filled up with various kinds of beverages. He managed to secure such a load that it lasted him over Sunday. Late in the afternoon he wanted to go out, but his roommate induced him to stay in and finally went out, locking the door of the room.

Fuchs later made up his mind to go out and as he could not force the door his only hope was the window. He looked out, but the twenty-five feet or more to the ground did not deter him in his befuddled condition, so he climbed upon the sill and leaped out.

It was nearly dark when he essayed the leap, but some neighbors saw him jump, and, hastening into the yard, they found the man lying groaning on the ground.

Patrolman Lawler was notified and he had the injured man removed to the Dixwell avenue station. Dr. Hemingway was summoned and examined the man's condition. The only injury found was a wrenching of the left ankle. Whether he sustained any internal injuries cannot be as yet ascertained. He was taken to his employer's house and will probably be out in a couple of weeks.

He will be extremely fortunate to escape so easily, as the jump might have resulted in his death or in maiming him for life.

President in New York.

New York, Oct. 13.—The steam yacht Oneida, with President Cleveland on board, arrived here to-day from Buzzard's Bay. President Cleveland, unattended, left the yacht at about two o'clock this afternoon at the foot of East Twenty-sixth street and was driven to the home of the Cleveland family physician, Dr. Joseph D. Bryant, at No. 64 West Thirty-sixth street. He dined with the doctor and his family, and then left for the yacht, arriving there at a quarter of four. According to Dr. Bryant, who was seen to-night, the party discussed only the dinner and a few private affairs. The president did not touch on anything political. At half-past four o'clock in the afternoon the Oneida passed Liberty island, bound down the bay.

Another Royal Marriage.

London, Oct. 13.—A Rome dispatch says Signor Lombardi, director general of the Royal Establishment, denies the report that the Prince of Naples, the Italian crown prince, is betrothed to a princess of Montenegro. He admitted that the negotiations opened in 1894 for the marriage of the prince to a daughter of the Prince of Wales were suspended by mutual agreement, but stated that these negotiations have been resumed, and it is probable the marriage will take place in the spring. The law requires that the Italian prince shall be Catholic, but their wives may be of any religion.

Flemington, N. J., Oct. 13.—Rev. Geo. S. Mott, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, surprised his congregation this morning by handing in his resignation. He has been active in ministerial circles for forty years. Dr. Mott has devoted much of his life to minimizing Sunday labor and succeeded the late Colonel Elliott P. Shepard as president of the American Sabbath union.

Saloonkeepers in Fear.

New London, Oct. 13.—It has been reported on the streets of New London all day that spotters of the Law and Order league have been in town. At all events the saloons have done but little business, even of the side door order, and drunkenness has been much less marked than usual.

Bridgeport, Oct. 13.—The saloonkeepers of Bridgeport are trembling with fear at the positive statements made by those in position to know that Law and Order men have been at work in this city. Some time ago the officials of the league compromised with the liquor dealers. Recently the Law and Order people stated that the liquor dealers had not kept their agreement and it is now war to the bitter end. The Law and Order league has, it is said, been collecting evidence and reports that a mass has been secured. At all events a bomb is expected to explode shortly.

OF NEW HAVEN INTEREST.

The Failure of J. B. Brewster & Co.—New York Carriage Manufacturers—Some Interesting New Haven Reminiscences.

The firm of J. B. Brewster & Co., carriage manufacturers at No. 489 Fifth avenue, New York city, which went under last Saturday, having last Saturday filed a deed of assignment for the benefit of creditors, had a long and very honorable record and went down with colors flying, after a brave fight. There is a special New Haven interest connected with the Brewsters, as the Messrs. Brewsters' father was the father of the carriage manufacturing industry in New Haven, an industry which was New Haven's great and dominating manufacturing business interest for many years, especially before the war, when it had a great trade with the south, and which still continues a leading interest here, despite great western competition. Hon. James Brewster, father of Messrs. Brewster, founded and carried on for many years before the great war, an important manufacturing business which was conducted in the factory on East street where now the Buckboard company does business. That section of the city became known as Brewsterville, in honor of his enterprise. Later in life he was identified with the business carried on by the late Henry Hooker, on State street, corner of Grove street, now carried on by his successors, the Henry Hooker company. Hon. James Brewster was a noted New Haven philanthropist and one of the originators of the Hartford railroad. He was a benefactor of the New Haven orphan asylum and was a man of great value to New Haven. His home for many years in his old age was the fine old residence on Elm street, later the home for many years of the late John B. Carrington.

J. B. Brewster, his son, now eighty years of age, and whose brother is a noted carriage manufacturer, was at one time identified with carriage manufacturing here in New Haven forty or more years ago. The New York Evening Post of Saturday says of J. B. Brewster & Co.'s business difficulties:

J. B. Brewster & Co., carriage manufacturers, No. 489 Fifth avenue, to-day filed a deed of assignment for the benefit of creditors. The capital stock is $125,000. The assignee, John A. Garver, No. 44 Wall street, has not yet made an estimate of assets and liabilities, but he knows that the liabilities are greater than the capital stock, and judges that the total assets will probably fall short of the liabilities. Certainly they will unless the good will turns out to be an asset of considerable value and the amount can be obtained for that is difficult to estimate. The concern holds pledged bills to the amount of $150,000. As it is a corporation there are, of course, no preferences.

The causes of the failure were partly hard times, but more especially an untimely attempt to meet keen competition. As is well known, the Brewsters have been at the head of their branch of the carriage business, the manufacturers of pleasure vehicles, ever since their business was founded early in the century by James Brewster of New Haven, the father of the brothers who are at the head of the two present concerns. Since the brothers separated many years ago, the partnership of Henry Brewster & Co. has gradually come into the control of the bulk of the business. This fact, the assignee thinks, is the primary cause of the financial straits of J. B. Brewster & Co. Their failure effects in no way the firm of Henry Brewster & Co., as for years their interests have been entirely separated. The falling off of the business of the corporation of late is thought to be due to the increasing age of Mr. J. B. Brewster, who is now in his eightieth year. As this was followed by the hard times, the business was gradually run to a standstill.

The officers of the company are Joseph C. Smith, president; F. Schuyler Tucker, secretary and treasurer. James B. Brewster is a director in the Fifth National bank.

Will Not Receive King Carlos. Rome, Oct. 13.—It is stated that there is a strong probability that the protest of the pope against the proposed visit of King Carlos of Portugal to King Humbert and the threat of his holiness to refuse to receive King Carlos should come to Rome will be effective to prevent the coming to this city of the Portuguese king.

Drowning Witnessed by Hundreds. Baltimore, Oct. 12.—A ferryman's yawl boat, in which six persons were crossing the eastern branch of the Patuxent river to-day, was capsized and Fred Volkman, James Huster, William Reynolds and Harry Steiner were drowned. The party left Perry Bar to row across to Meter's resort in Anne Arundel county. A stiff breeze was blowing and a heavy swell running. No one seems to know what caused the craft to overturn, unless it was because one of the passengers stood up and caused it to tip. The accident was witnessed by hundreds of people on both sides of Spring Gardens. One of the unfortunate was found clinging to the overturned boat, and another had managed to keep himself afloat by aid of an oar.

Clarksville, Va., Oct. 13.—On application of Attorneys Green and Deming of Philadelphia, representing the Mercantile Trust company of this city, Judge Goff of the United States court yesterday made an order foreclosing a one hundred year mortgage of the Norfolk and Western road, the amount involved being $25,000,000.

ANGRY HUSBAND'S VISIT

MIDNIGHT TRIP TO THE POLICE STATION WITH HIS CHILD.

Wraps His Baby in a Quilt and in the Pouring Rain Seeks the Aid of the Police—His Tale of Marital Woe—Will Endeavor to Secure a Warrant for the Arrest of His Wife.

Shortly after midnight this morning, during one of the heaviest downpours of rain of the night, there appeared at the central police station a man of about forty years of age, bearing in his arms a baby wrapped in a quilt, while at his heels were four more children, all under ten years of age. One was a little girl bearing in her arms a younger child. Approaching Sergeant Crocker, who was on duty at the time, he exclaimed:

"I've kicked my wife out of doors and I want you to keep my children here for me!"

Sergeant Crocker observed that there were very poor accommodations at the police station for the care of children, and the Organized Charities were also closed, and inquired the reason of the untimely visit.

"I want my wife arrested," said the man, and then with a face pale with anger and flashing eye, he related a tale of marital infelicity. He stated that his name was Henry and that he resided in the southwestern part of the city. He came home Sunday night and found his wife entertaining a bachelor friend of his.

He summarily ejected the unwelcome visitor, and then turned his attention to his wife, and put her out of doors with no gentle hand. He then aroused the children, dressed them and left the house thoroughly decided not to live with his erring wife any more.

Sergeant Crocker endeavored to quiet the excited man, and as the injured husband had no witnesses of the overt act he induced him to return home with his wet and bedraggled offspring. He finally left vowing that the first thing Monday morning he would secure a warrant for his recalcitrant wife's arrest. The man was perfectly sober, and Patrolman Collett, who was present at the time, said he had the reputation in the neighborhood of being an honest, hardworking man.

Tribute Levied by Force.

Berlin, Oct. 13.—The social disorder which is prevalent on the Russian frontier of Armenia is indicated by advice received to-day from St. Petersburg. According to these reports the Kurdish chief, Nabai, is levying tribute by force in the Russian district of Erivan, where he is seizing cattle, murdering men, Christians and Moslems alike, and carrying off women and children. His latest reported exploit was to burn down a hamlet of eighteen houses, kill thirty-two men and abduct fifteen women and fourteen children. A force of gendarmes was sent in pursuit of him, but when they overtook him they were defeated and obliged to flee. A strong force of the troops was then sent after him, but were not successful in overtaking him.

ANNUAL HARVEST RALLY

At Calvary Church Yesterday Morning. The annual fall rally of the Calvary Baptist Bible school was held yesterday morning. The church had been handsomely decorated for the occasion with flowers, autumn leaves, corn, fruit, etc.

A huge star of varied colors was suspended from the arch over the choir gallery and attracted a great deal of attention, while across the gallery front was the inscription: "What Shall the Harvest Be?" Despite the stormy weather the school was exceedingly well represented, a very large number of the members being present. The exercises were of unusual interest. There were anthems by the choir and special songs by the school, in which several canary birds joined with their sweet notes. There was a roll call of the classes, each responding with a passage of scripture, and the ordinance of baptism was administered. Following these exercises there was a special song service in the school room, led by a large orchestra. The day will be remembered as one of the most interesting in the history of the school.

THREE PERSONS MET DEATH

KILLED OUTRIGHT ON A RUNAWAY TROLLEY CAR IN PITTSBURGH.

The Car Jumped the Track and Then Went Over an Embankment—The Brake Rod Broke and the Motorman Lost Control—Those Who Were Killed Were Horribly Mangled.

Pittsburg, Oct. 13.—Three persons were killed outright and nine others injured by a run-away trolley car on the West End Electric line, jumping the track and going over an embankment at 8:20 to-night.

The car wrecked was No. 55 on the Carnegie branch of the West End Electric line and left Carnegie at 6:34 o'clock. Just before the city limits is reached there is a sharp curve and hill lang the track for about a quarter of a mile. When the car reached this point the brake-rod broke and the motorman lost control. The car dashed down the hill until it reached McCarty street, where there is a sharp curve.

Here it jumped the track and turned completely over. It landed in a ravine along side the road. The car was broken into splinters and the three killed were horribly mangled. Just before the car jumped the track Conductor McGuire yelled to all to fall to the car bottom. Before they obeyed the order Mrs. Foley dropped her daughter Katie out of a window and probably saved the child's life. Three boys jumped off the car just before it left the track and were probably not injured.

As soon as he could extricate himself from the wreck Conductor McGuire ran to the houses in the vicinity for assistance. The city ambulances were called and the injured cared for.

FAIRIES ARE AFTER HIM.

James Methers' Erratic Behavior Worries the Police.

A man who has caused the police considerable trouble the past few days is now locked up at the police station, and an investigation will probably be made in regard to his sanity. He gives the name of James Methers, and his residence as 108 View street.

His first appearance was made on Friday noon about 1 o'clock, when he was noticed sitting on the City hall steps talking to himself. He was spoken to by Sergeant Crocker, and he immediately took to his heels and disappeared up Elm street.

Some time afterward Patrolman Dougherty noticed a man walking excitedly back and forth on the central green. He approached him, and as he came up the fellow gave a yell and shouting: "The fairies are after me!" he again sought safety in flight. But Patrolman Dougherty was on his heels and soon overtook him. Then occurred a short, sharp tussle in which the pursued came out second best. He was escorted to the police station and his rambling talk caused the sergeant to order him locked up, as he deemed the man insane.

In the morning he was released, as he seemed perfectly rational. Yesterday afternoon he appeared at the station and demanded that Sergeant Cook should lock him up. He said the fairies were after him and he wanted to get where he would be safe. He said he had no
